City man charged in 3 sex assaults

► Women assaulted after answering classified ads: Police
► Accused remanded in custody, slated for court appearance today

A man is facing charges after police say young women lured under the guise of job interviews were sexually assaulted.

Between January 2009 and March 2011, three women aged 18 to 22 answered ads and then met a man for an administrative posting, but were sexually assaulted, said the Edmonton Police Service.

The women first met the man at a business but then went to a home near 114 Avenue and 105 Street where the assaults occurred, said EPS Staff Sgt Debbie Jolly.

Police are urging other victims to come forward.

"We know that, with sexual assault, one in 10 victims are coming forward to report the incident," said Jolly. "I am satisfied there are additional victims out there."

She says the time investigators needed to build a strong case accounts for the lag in pressing charges.

"I am satisfied that we have reached a threshold of reasonable and probable grounds that these events all occurred and that one offender committed all of the offences," said Jolly.

She warned other potential perpetrators that the EPS takes sexual assaults seriously.

"For any potential offenders out there thinking of doing something similar, we are watching you.... Once we find probable and reasonable grounds, we will lay the charge."

Police encourage others who may have been victims of similar

More cancer coverage for firefighters

Four more types of cancer are being added to the list of those covered by Workers' Compensation Board for Alberta's firefighters.

Adding prostate, breast, skin and multiple myeloma to the presumptive coverage list brings the total to 14.

"Our firefighters dedicate their careers to protecting us," Employment Minister Thomas Lukaszuk said yesterday. "We have an obligation to do what we can to protect them — and that's what we're doing."

Lukaszuk said Alberta firefighters now have access to the "most comprehensive list of presumptive cancers in all of Canada."

Alta. wants to expand low-income housing

The province is encouraging partners to submit proposals to develop housing for lower-income and homeless Albertans.

The $100-million request for proposals, announced yesterday, means a minimum of 660 housing units could be developed as part of the 10-year plan to end homelessness.

The deadline for submissions is July 8. Details can be found online at housing.alberta.ca. Successful applicants are expected to be notified this fall.

School remains closed after spill

► Workers continue to clean up site of oil-pipeline leak in province's north

A school in the area of a massive oil-pipeline leak in northern Alberta remained closed for a fourth day yesterday after students complained of headaches and nausea from gassy, tarry smells.

"Friday morning, there was a strong smell ... of a propane or gas odour within the atmosphere," said Lubicon Cree Chief Steve Nosky. "The kids were getting sick. They were getting nauseous. They were getting headaches and they were sent home."

36 This is the largest pipeline leak in Alberta in 36 years.

Energy regulators say 28,000 barrels of crude oil spilled from the Rainbow pipeline, owned by Plains Midstream Canada, before the leak was discovered and the flow was shut down Friday morning.

The Lubicon live in the community of Little Buffalo northeast of Peace River. The town is about 14 kilometres from the spill site, said Environment Minister Rob Renner.

Davis Sheremata, spokesman for the Energy Resources Conservation Board, denied that problems in Little Buffalo were connected to the leak.

"We often will get complaints like this and sometimes it is a feedlot nearby. Sometimes it's an asphalt operation. Sometimes it's not oil-and-gas-related. We're looking into it," he said.

Sheremata said the oil remains about 300 metres from any flowing water and is pooling in the soil and in a stagnant pond.

Air-quality monitors were set up Monday at the spill site and in Little Buffalo. The monitors haven't detected any hydrocarbon levels above air-quality guidelines, said Sheremata.

Online tool brings Albertans closer to their health

► New website connects Albertans to trusted health-care information ► Content reviewed by panel of physicians

@METRONEWS.CA

Reliable health information is now available at the click of a button in Alberta.

The province launched a new online tool yesterday called MyHealthAlberta, which is the first phase of a $33-million personal-health portal initiative.

Once fully complete in 2015, it will give every individual access to Alberta's electronic-health-record system — a first for Canada.

"When it comes to your health, information can be very powerful," said Gene Zwozdesky, minister of health and wellness. "By providing Albertans with access to health information that can help them stay well, we have created a very innovative way to strengthen primary care."

9,000 The website currently covers nearly 9,000 health topics.

Currently, myhealth.alberta.ca covers nearly 9,000 topics, ranging from how to prepare for upcoming medical tests and doctors' visits to approved treatments and home remedies.

"Effective primary care involves a team of health-care providers, and patients themselves are a vital part of that team," said Chris Eagle, president and CEO of Alberta Health Services.

Albertans interested in wait times will also be able to go online, as Alberta Wait Times Reporting was also launched yesterday. A similar site was taken down in 2008. The new waittimes.alberta.ca shows information for surgical procedures, diagnostic tests, cancer services and hip- and knee-replacement surgeries.

Race to finish new Indy track in gear

The start of construction on the new Edmonton Indy track was announced yesterday afternoon with the help of Canadian Indy car driver Paul Tracy.

Workers began lifting the pavement to prepare for resurfacing as Tracy made a visit to the track.

Tracy says the new $3-million track at the City Centre Airport will level the playing field, as no teams will have raced on it before.

"Everybody comes in here with a clean sheet of paper," Tracy said. "It's the teams that can react quickly and adapt to the track quickly that are going to excel."

In addition to a new track, this year's Edmonton Indy will also see the cars line up side by side at the start.

"It's like opening a cage to a pack of wolves," Tracy said. "Ultimately, there's going to be contact and there's going to be accidents."

Tickets to the Edmonton Indy, running from July 22 to 24, are 40 per

Not so green after all

► Environmentally friendly options less of a student priority: U of A study

EDMONTON@METRONEWS.CA

A recent study led by a University of Alberta professor shows that post-secondary students may not be the most environmentally friendly segment of the population.

The study of 350 U of A students was carried out by Prof. Pete Boxall's class for the second year as part of an undergraduate project in the department of rural economy.

Students found that in comparison to the general public, there is roughly a 10 per cent lower level of participation in environmentally friendly activities.

"I think it's just not as accessible," U of A student Sophie Florhency said. "If you knew all the options that were out there, you would do more."

Around 70 per cent of students felt that being environmentally friendly was too costly, 45 per cent felt it took too much time and 16 per cent felt their efforts wouldn't have an impact.

Boxall said that educated marketing campaigns on the matter across campus could make a difference.

"Just general kinds of things like making sure you have recycle bins around, or maybe facilitating interactions with politicians on the matter," he said.

Arson not a victimless crime, fire chief says

- ▶ Edmonton arsons higher than national average
- ▶ Many are injured and killed by arson every year

 SHELLEY WILLIAMSON
@METRONEWS.CA

Deliberately set fires cause hundreds of millions of dollars in damage annually and account for more than a third of the city's active blazes.

And they've gotten local officials' attention.

"Arson poses a serious threat to lives, property and natural resources in our city," said Mayor Stephen Mandel, as he proclaimed May 4 Arson Awareness Day.

"Often arson is referred to as a victimless crime — and nothing can be further from the truth," said fire Chief Ken Block, adding it diminishes confidence, puts firefighters and citizens at risk and puts a drain on city resources.

Det. Brian Murphy of the Edmonton Police Service arson unit cites revenge, covering up other crimes and vandalism as motivators for arsonists.

He suggests people keep their property clean of garbage, old vehicles and other materials that can be ignited by passing firebugs.

Whatever the motivation, the nature of the crime is that it often destroys key evidence, which makes it tough for investigators, Murphy said.

"Having witnesses to help us along the way is very important when we're doing investigations," he said, adding that deliberately set fires are actually down by about 27 per cent.

City council may have to pick and choose between projects after crunching the numbers this week.

City staff informed councillors Tuesday that there isn't enough money for all projects slated for the three-year capital budget.

For example, they're considering borrowing $350 million for a new downtown arena and $600 million for LRT expansion.

They expect to take a closer look at the cost and scale of some projects next month, and pass the budget later this year. • METRO

Bishop to court: Lock me up ... now

► 'Guilty, your honour,' 70-year-old cleric tells judge in child-porn case

METRO OTTAWA

Roman Catholic Bishop Raymond Lahey of Nova Scotia is going directly to jail after he pleaded guilty yesterday to "importing" child pornography.

Lahey, 70, the former head of the diocese in Antigonish, N.S., was caught at the Ottawa airport in September 2009 with photos of boys involved in sexual acts.

"Guilty, your honour," Lahey said in response to the charge that he "did, without lawful excuse, possess for the purposes of importation child pornography in the form of graphic computer images."

Those images included sex acts performed on and by pubescent boys, Crown prosecutor David Elhadad read in an agreed statement of facts.

Defence lawyer Michael Edelson told the court Lahey wanted to give up his right to bail and be incarcerated.

"To signal to the court the sincerity and genuineness of his remorse, he wants to be in jail as of today's date," said Edelson.

Lahey came under suspicion after he hesitated and appeared nervous when questioned by a border agent at the airport as he was returning from London, England.

His passport contained stamps for Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia and Germany.

A border agent found images she deemed to be child pornography on his computer as well as sex toys in his bag.

Further investigation

"My client feels, deeply and profoundly, remorse and guilt about what he has done.... He wants to be in jail as of today's date."

MICHAEL EDELSON,
DEFENCE LAWYER

found 588 images deemed child pornography on electronic devices he owns, as well as stories that depict forced sex acts, torture and degradation of young boys, the Crown said.

The Crown asked the judge for a pre-sentencing report, which the defence opposed.

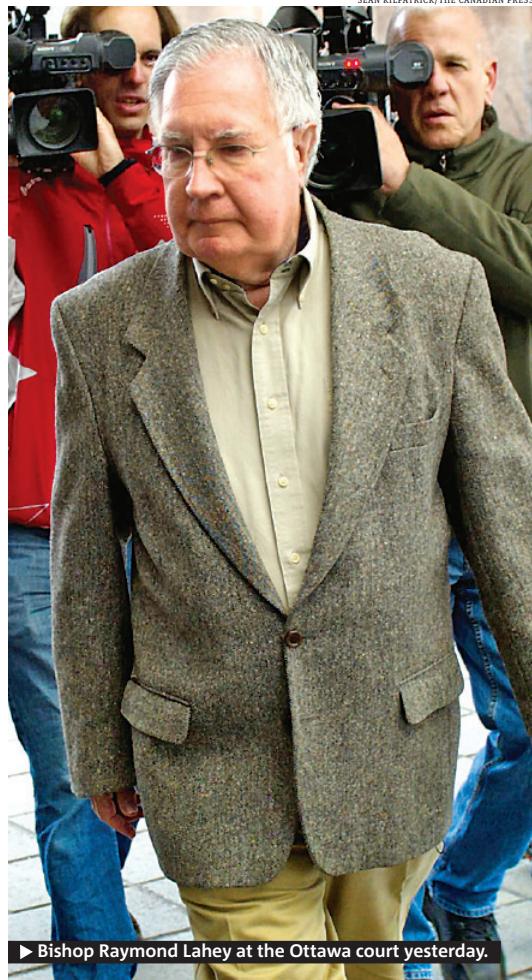

Justice Jack Kirkland declined the request, citing a report from Dr. John Bradford, professor at the University of Ottawa.

Bradford examined Lahey and will testify on a date not yet set.

Lahey and his lawyers had to run a gauntlet of cameras to enter the Ottawa courthouse.

He cut a solitary figure, crammed on the end of a courtroom bench for almost an hour before proceedings started.

MP jumps into politics — and a fuss

Quebecers are grumbling about the new local MP — and not just because she lives 300 kilometres away, didn't visit the riding to campaign, can't speak much French and spent part of the election vacationing in Las Vegas.

The anger is about Ruth

Ellen Brosseau's nomination papers. Her opponents suggest they may have been falsified.

A man in the Berthier-Maskinonge riding says he was stunned to see his name and address listed on the papers filed by the NDP campaign. He doesn't recall giving his support.

The NDP has dismissed allegations of irregularities and says signatures were collected normally by door-to-door volunteers and by others who worked local gathering spots. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Patio summer ahead?

Environment Canada says we could be in for a warmer-than-normal summer across the country.

Senior climatologist David Phillips says June, July and August may be warmer than normal "from coast to coast to coast."

Phillips says the cool, wet spring has made people a little feisty.

"We've had a tough winter.... We've had wet, wet, wet and floods and coolish, and we haven't really drunk too much beer on outdoor patios."

Bin Laden death pics will remain private: Obama

► AK-47s found in bin Laden's hideaway ► Officials comb through flash drives, computer files and DVDS

U.S. President Barack Obama said yesterday he has decided not to release death photos of Osama bin Laden because their graphic nature could incite violence and create security risks for the nation.

The president said that for anyone who does not believe bin Laden is dead, "we don't think that a photograph in and of itself is going to make any difference."

Photos taken by the Navy SEAL raiders show bin Laden shot in the head, officials have said.

It also came after a revised description of the circumstances of bin Laden's death. After initially saying the terrorist was armed or even firing, the White House said Tuesday that bin Laden was unarmed, raising questions about the basis for his killing.

Later U.S. officials said that the Navy SEALs who stormed bin Laden's compound shot him after they saw him appear to lunge for a weapon.

Holy city will never work divided, says mayor of Jerusalem

The Israeli mayor of Jerusalem said yesterday that Arabs and Jews are now so intertwined that the city cannot possibly be divided, even though both Israel and the Palestinians claim it as their capital.

"You cannot divide the

Israel seized the eastern part of Jerusalem — along with the West Bank — from Jordan in the 1967 war.

New pact bonds Palestinians

- Rival factions Fatah and Hamas agree to end bitter four-year rift
- Palestinian leader rejects Israel's opposition, says it's an internal affair

► Palestinians embrace yesterday as they celebrate the planned signing of a reconciliation agreement between Fatah and Hamas, in the West Bank city of Nablus.

Rival Palestinian factions Fatah and Hamas proclaimed a landmark reconciliation pact yesterday aimed at ending their bitter four-year rift that has left them with competing governments in the territories envisioned for a future Palestinian state, but Israel's leader denounced it as a "mortal blow to peace."

The alliance set off ecstatic celebrations in the Palestinian territories. In ternational mediator Tony Blair insisted their new government must recognize Israel, a step Hamas has always rejected.

Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas brushed off the criticism and instead used the occasion to deliver a scathing attack on Israel, saying, "we reject blackmail and it is no longer possible for us to accept the (Israeli) occupation of Palestinian land." The Palestinians have been lapsed into civil war in June 2007. In five days of fighting, Hamas overran the Gaza Strip, leaving Abbas' Palestinian Authority in charge of the West Bank. Reconciliation is essential for Palestinian dreams to establish a state in the two areas.

The pact provides for the creation of a joint caretaker government ahead of national elections next year.

The con after the storm

► Some residents are packing firearms to scare off marauding looters

GARY COSBY JR./THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Authorities say the South has been plagued by a variety of swindles since the twister outbreak last week that ripped apart houses and killed 329 people in seven states. Looters have carried off televisions, power tools and prescription pills.

Elsewhere, unscrupulous businesses are charging double for a tank of gas or jacking up the cost of a hotel room. Authorities also warn of construction workers who leave with the cash before opening their tool kit and the danger that identities could be stolen off windblown documents.

Though the region has seen similar scams after hurricanes and the Gulf oil spill, the speed of con men this time around has surprised authorities and survivors.

Police in several of the states have charged people with looting, though officials said they aren't keeping statewide numbers on those arrests. Tuscaloosa's mayor yesterday ordered five more days of an 8 p.m. curfew to curb crime in the most heavily damaged areas, to be enforced by police and National Guard troops. The city that was hit the hardest by the outbreak is also going to start checking credentials of volunteers to prove they are legitimate.

Sundance Mazda RENOVATION adds comfort, convenience

There's a lot to celebrate at Sundance Mazda these days. After all, logging nearly four decades in the car business is no mean feat, and this family owned and operated business has managed to build a stellar reputation along the way.

Sundance is celebrating, and clients will too. After a year-long renovation project, the doors to an impressive new building were thrown open last weekend. The $2.5-million renovation boasts a completely renovated showroom with floor-to-ceiling windows where clients can peruse their favourite automobiles. Have a look at the all-new for 2011 Mazda 2. Or maybe you're keen on the Mazda 3, named the Best New Small Car of the Year in 2010 by the Automobile Journalists Association of Canada (AJAC). This is Alberta's number 1 selling passenger car, and this year Mazda has added traction/stability control, rain-sensing front wipers, auto headlights and auto-leveling bi-xenon headlights.

If you're one of the fortunate and already own a Mazda, you'll be impressed with Sundance's new "Zoom Zoom" lounge. It offers the ultimate in customer care while you wait for your car. Coffee, tea, hot chocolate is on tap; there's free WiFi, big-screen TVs and comfortable seating to make the experience a pleasant one. Even better, a "Junior Zoom Zoom Lounge" will keep the younger set busy with lots of fun activities.

The service, parts and detailing departments have been expanded as well, raising the bar even higher for Sundance's top-drawer reputation for customer service.

The renovations will make things a lot more convenient and comfortable for our clients," said general manager Brad Miller. "We're in good stead now to ride out at least another 35 years."

The Reid family opened the doors 36 years ago. Now at the helm, Jeff Reid continues to build on the legacy that began with his father in this independent, family owned business. With that, comes a sense of obligation to its faithful clients. "We're not part of big conglomerate owned by people who don't even live in Edmonton," said Miller. "We live here, do business here and play here. We want to get it right, every day."

With all the new glam and bling that is Sundance Mazda's new home, what hasn't changed is the same great service and great people.

Customers enjoy a comprehensive roadside assistance program that comes with every Mazda. An Added Protection Plan will protect against unexpected repair costs over and above the existing warranty for up to seven years or 160,000 kilometres.

"It's our way of ensuring that your ownership experience is the best it can be," said Miller. "We know the excitement that comes from being behind the wheel of your new Mazda, so our service department works hard to keep you there."

Come down and check out the new premises! Your new Mazda is waiting for you.

School bullies get plea deals

► Probation for teens whose taunts led 15-year-old to hang herself

Two U.S. teens accused of harassing a 15-year-old Irish-born classmate who later hanged herself were sentenced yesterday to a year of probation.

It was the first of five anticipated plea deals in a case that drew worldwide attention to school bullying.

Phoebe Prince's crying mother approved the deals finalized in a Massachusetts court.

Sean Mulveyhill and Kayla Narey, both 18, were sentenced for their roles in the bullying that preceded Phoebe's suicide in January 2010.

Three other former

South Hadley High School students were expected to accept similar plea arrangements today.

Prosecutors have said the bullying stemmed from four girls' anger about Phoebe's relationships with Mulveyhill, who was captain of the school's football team, and another popular boy.

Mulveyhill apparently goaded some of the girls to harangue Phoebe after he dumped her.

Phoebe hanged herself, telling a friend in a text: "I can't take much more. It would be easier if (someone) handed me a noose."

Canada's privacy commissioner, Jennifer Stoddart, wants the power to impose "attention-getting fines" when major corporations fail to protect Canadians' personal information.

Stoddart's statement comes in the wake of a massive security breach disclosed by Sony last week that may have affected more than 100 million PlayStation accounts.

In a letter to members of the U.S. House commerce committee, Kazuo Hirai, chairman of Sony Computer Entertainment America LLC, defended Sony's handling of the breach. The company has shut down the affected systems while it investigates the attacks and beefs up security.

Intel chip 'revolutionary'

A new "3-D" electronic switch on its chips will make computers even cheaper and more powerful, Intel Corp. says.

The switches, known as transistors, have typically been flat. By adding a third dimension — "fins" that jut up from the base — Intel can make the transistors and chips smaller, which means they run on less power. That gives Intel its best shot yet at cracking the growing market for chips used in smartphones

Analysts call it one of the most significant shifts in silicon-transistor design since the integrated circuit was invented more than half a century ago.

"This is definitely a revolutionary change," said Dan Hutcheson, CEO of VLSI Research Inc.

Intel has been experimenting with 3-D, or "trigate," transistors for nearly a decade, but now it has figured out how to manufacture them cheaply in mass quantities. The chips will appear in computers in 2012. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS teamwork whenever lightning approaches does not indicate I'm scared. As summer thunderstorm season approaches, I am merely cautious. Respectful of Mother Nature. Well attuned to the possibility of an imminent and painful death.

If you were to look at a cross-section of my brain, you would see many normal lobes — dedicated to such necessary guy functions as chore avoidance and retention of Wilf Paiement's NHL career totals. But where in a normal man you would find the area dedicated to time indexing of nudity in major motion pictures — the so-called charliebelum — you would in me find a hyper vigilance toward electrical storms.

And let me be clear: This is not a phobia. A phobia is an irrational fear. When I was a kid, I was scared of a thunderstorm's loud noises. That was a phobia. Now I am scared of 300 kilovolts entering through my head and leaving through some of my more important appendages. I have a hard time seeing this as unreasonable.

But I am a courageous Canadian warrior, so I know how to deal with lightning when it strikes.

When I hear thunder I courageously cover my head in blankets and courageously turn my iPod to full volume so that I might courageously pretend the storm is not happening. You know when you see a big-eyed dog trembling under the couch because of thunderclaps? I'm underneath that dog, whispering, "Keep me safe, Zoe. Good girl."

Courage, my word.

I'm here to help you be brave, too, reader(s), so be sure to arm yourself with safety advice:

- Stand your ground. Lightning is as scared of you as you are of it.
- Avoid all conversations about God and irony.
- If it's the Tampa Bay Lightning, dump the puck in and get a good cycle going off the forecheck.
- If you start to feel scared, try aversion therapy. Once you are struck by lightning five or six times, your body will begin to acclimatize.
- If you hear a Muppet counting, take cover immediately.

If you still have concerns despite these tips, you can always seek me out for support. But don't call or email, because I won't use anything plugged in during a storm. Visit me instead. I'll be under the dog.

Worth mentioning

REDWOOD CITY, CALIF. Two women described by a prosecutor as "marijuana grannies" were jailed on allegations that they were growing hundreds of pot plants in their San Bruno home, authorities said late Tuesday.

Aleen Lam, 72, and Virginia Chan Pon, 65, were arrested Friday after neighbours called police to report a burglary, said San Mateo County district attorney Steve Wagstaffe.

When officers arrived, they found the door had been kicked in and nobody was home.

Through the broken door, police could see marijuana growing inside the house, Wagstaffe said.

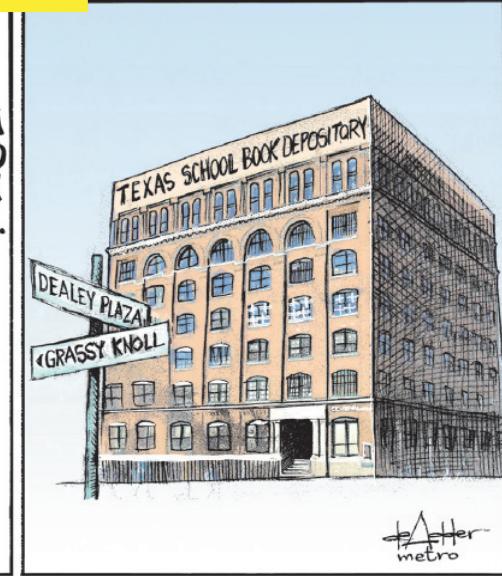

Police obtained a search warrant and found 800 marijuana plants, $3,000 in cash and an electrical bypass that allowed the women to tap into a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. power line to steal electricity, Wagstaffe said.

"This has not happened in the 34 years that I've been here," he said in describing the operation and the suspects' ages.

One man's trash may be another man's home

Albuquerque, N.M., authorities arrested a homeless man for failing to notify them that he moved out of the industrial trash bin he listed as his address.

KOB-TV reports Charles Mader is a convicted sex offender and is required to give the Bernalillo County Sheriff's Department a physical address.

Detectives say Mader violated his sex offender registration requirement after moving out of the dumpster and failing to report the move within 10 days.

On Monday, deputies found Mader at a homeless shelter and arrested him.

Mader told KOB he wasn't familiar with some of the registration rules. Bernalillo County authorities say they have told Mader what the rules are repeatedly.

Sheriff's officials say Mader could face up to three years in jail for failing to register for a third time.

Two days after he walked through tornado rubble in Alabama, actor Charlie Sheen has begun an online campaign to raise money for storm victims.

The website named "Torpedos against Tornadoes" says that donations will be tax-deductible and will go to Alabama victims of the April 27 twisters that ripped through the South.

The name of the relief campaign is derived from Sheen's touring stage show "My Violent Torpedo of Truth."

Sheen visited tornado-damaged Tuscaloosa this week and pledged to organize a benefit event.

Movies explore role waste has in our lives

► REEL Film Festival has seven documentaries that look at how people around the world deal with waste ► Event have been planed for over a year

BACKSTAGE PASS

JENNIFER LARAWAY
METRO EDMONTON

We live in a consumable society of convenience.

Everything from our fast food containers to the water we waste from taking an indulging long shower contribute to the trash factor. It's impossible to avoid it ... or is it?

Garry Spotowski, organizer of the REEL Film Festival, doesn't seem to think so. Neither do the people involved in the event's seven feature films. In fact, one couple from Vancouver documents their trials and triumphs of attempting to live waste free for an entire year in the film The Clean Bin Project.

"Some films are sad, some are funny, some are deeply revealing, but all of them are inspiring and challenging in their own way," says Spotowski, who's been planning this event with his entourage for the last year and a half.

They had big shoes to fill after the success of their first REEL Film Festival in 2008. Both festivals were part of the international conference called Waste: The Social Context. Surprisingly, there are a lot of documentaries and films dedicated to the subject. Deciding on which films to feature wasn't easy.

"We did a survey of all films dealing exclusively with waste and recycling and selected what we thought were the best ones, while aiming for a variety of subject matter and tone," explains Spotowski. "Some films were recommended by people who knew we were looking, others we wanted to show in 2008 but couldn't so we've got them in this time."

For a full schedule, visit reelwaste.com. The REEL Film Festival takes place Sunday to Wednesday at the Metro Cinema at the Citadel Theatre (9828 101 A Ave. NW). Tickets are $10 a pop ($8 if you are a student or senior) or buy the all-access pass in advance for $25 and see all the movies you want.

Edmonton drummers looking to take on the world

Impact Performing Arts Association has big ambitions — they want to create a world class drum corps in Edmonton by 2015. They'll then take their show on the road to compete at Drum Corps International events.

It's a tall order for an organization that just formed last year. To make this all happen, they are looking to recruit 150 members by taking a page out of the Making the Band book with Spin and Jam.

It's a public event taking place tomorrow night at 7 p.m. at the Strathcona Community League (10139 87 Ave. NW). Admission is only $2 and it gets you a pop and a pizza.

The event is featuring a fastest drummer competition and longest/highest note competitions.

Swing by to check out the talent or to see if there's a spot for you in the group.

This event celebrates the official launch of the Impact Arts' summer programs, which feature dance, colourguard, brass and percussion programs. Spin and Jam is designed to get you involved.

There will be tutorials on spinning and a spin-off competition for those interested in their unique dance programs. For more information visit impactarts.ca or call 780-2-IMPACT (246-7228).

Betty White dishes out 90 years of advice in book

MEREDITH ENGEL
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN NEW YORK

"Betty White is one of the sexiest women in America," Robert Pattinson has been quoted as saying. And really, can you blame him? The actress has had a storied career that's won the admiration of fans for over seven decades. In her sixth book, If You Ask Me (And Of Course You Won't), White offers her take on everything from friendship and love to aging and the highlights of her career.

When did you first realize that you had a sense of humour?
Around the breakfast table with my mother and dad. They both had delicious sensibilities of humour. And they'd never explain anything to me — you either caught on or you didn't — and so it made you listen carefully. It was just wonderful.

This is your sixth book. What do you love about writing?

You have to be honest with yourself. It's like playing a game. You don't know where you're going when a subject comes up and as you work it through you get some surprises. You also get a chance to go back and look it over, where with television it's out of your mouth and it's said.

Is there anything in your life that you wish you could change?

Oh, I'd bring Allen (Ludden, her husband who died in 1981) back in a heartbeat of course, but also I would change the first two bad marriages. I would know better now, but that's what growing up is about. I find life is a fascinating adventure. Who would ever dream that at 89 years old — I'll be 90 in January — that I'm having the biggest year of my career?

Blood Pressures rising

► The Kills return to doing what they do best — make great music ► New sound defies their traditional vibe

After a decade together and four solid records to show for it, the Kills may have gone from a small-room buzz band to a large venue spectacle — but, at their core, few things have changed for singer Alison Mosshart and guitarist Jamie Hince.

"When we started out, we used to rehearse in a soundproof cupboard that a carpentry company made for us," says Hince. "The stages got bigger, but the electricity between Alison and I is the most important part, and it exists on any sized stage."

While the two have never had trouble turning heads on their own, their recent time apart has brought even more attention to the band. Mosshart was recruited by Jack White to be the singer of his latest project, the Dead Weather, while Hince spent much of his time dodging the relentless paparazzi that become an everyday reality when you're dating Kate Moss.

Re-

grouping in 2009, the Kills holed up in rural Michigan to record Blood Pressures. Released earlier this month, the album features a gospel choir and continues to defy the sonic limitations associated with being a two-piece.

"I've always been thinking about how to expand our sound," says Hince. "If we just continue on with drums, guitar and vocals, all we can do is write different songs and play them in the same format."

Remake, remodel
Hince says he found inspiration for the new Kills sound from Roxy Music's debut.

"I love the way that that record is so emotive and they use all these different instruments to target different heartstrings that a guitar can't," he says.

► The more things change, the more they stay the same for the Kills.

"So I started thinking about how we could do that. I tried to figure out how to make the guitar sound like an organ. ... Then I started on the thought of using gospel singers to get a different feeling. Then I bought a mellotron! I just wanted to get lost in it all and write songs with different instruments. With Alison on the road I had more time to experiment. I was making mistakes that I wasn't afraid to make."

SMALL SCREEN TEENAGE DREAMS

Darren Criss isn't even officially a full-time cast member on Glee, yet he's one of the most popular stars on the Fox TV show.

The actor made his debut last fall as Blaine Anderson, a gay student at Dalton Academy where Chris Colfer's character, Kurt, transfers after being bullied out.

His performance of a version of Katy Perry's Teenage Dream quickly became one of the show's most popular performances to date.

Viewers were smitten, and the 24-year-old was quickly written into most of the season's final episodes.

Your performances are so popular on Glee. What's it like to be on an album?

They're all incredible songs, so I really enjoyed them all. I worked super hard. If people are enjoying them I'm glad because it's not something that I took lightly, so I'm really happy.

What would you like to see on Glee that hasn't happened yet?

I would really love it to start in the summer because I want to see what these kids are up to when they're not in school ... I always joke that everyone in Glee is like family-less. I don't know how they're gettin' around. They're like 15, 16 years old (laughs).

When did you realize your first appearance on the show was a big deal?

I don't watch a lot of TV. I'm really busy so I wasn't really feeling it. I was living in my little ... apartment. It was really dirty.

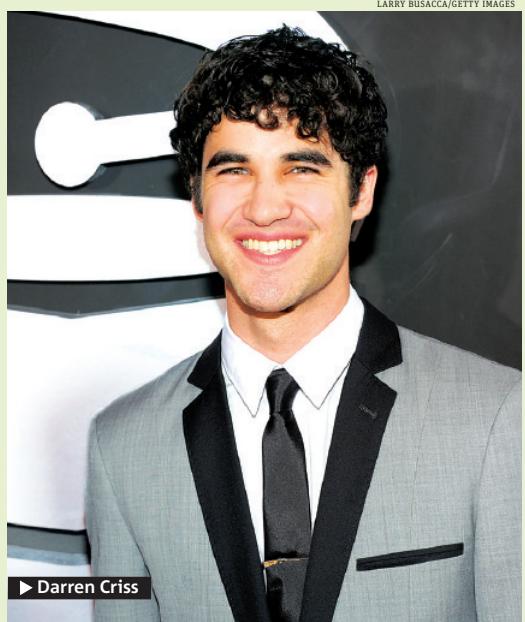

Nothing really manifested itself in an immediate way. I still had laundry to do, bills to pay. Any successes it may have garnered it didn't hit me (laughs) at all so it was this very intangible thing. People were like, "It's doing really well" and I was like, "OK, great."

Do you have plans to release

a solo album?

I was kind of at a crossroads right before I started Glee. I was literally about to throw in the towel with acting because music was proving itself sort of more mentally, spiritually and financially lucrative. I started a theatre company in Chicago, Team StarKid, and my EP Human started doing really well (it charted on Billboard) and that was gonna be my life. Glee has both empowered and complicated that whole process. Whatever album I was about to put out got put aside for a little bit. It'll happen eventually.

"I'm not saying that the Hollywood actress with the perfect jawline isn't beautiful. I'm saying, isn't there a little more to this?"

Sixx is comfortable pushing the envelope — whether he's discussing the music industry with fellow artists or forging ahead with Sixx: A.M. and figuring out just what it is they're trying to create themselves.

"Record companies don't like guys like Nikki Sixx that tell the artist how to take control of their own assets," he says.

"We haven't really discovered who we are [and] there's something really beautiful about that. We're just trying to get to know our audience, and our audience is getting to know us. In case you haven't noticed, '70s-style maxi dresses and flared jeans are ruling spring. But here's the thing about decade comebacks.

First, they come fast and furious. For example, next fall will be all about the 60s — A-line dresses and skirts (and to a lesser extent, 90s grunge.) So choose wisely which disco-flavoured looks to invest in and resist the urge to blindly follow the trend cycle.

Nothing feels worse than pulling something out of your closet and realizing it feels dated merely six months after you've bought it.

Second, you don't want to interpret these decade-specific moments too literally. Search through the attic for your mom's old silk blouses and flowy dresses.

But stay far, far away from her bell bottoms — that is, unless you want people to think you're in costume. It's about updating the look in a modern way.

As far as longevity goes, I've put my money on the season's billowy dresses, which nod to the sexy, good-time vibe the decade is known for, but stops just short of camp.

I like that they give you just the slightest hint of Bianca Jagger at Studio 54, not to mention they can easily move from the office to a summer rooftop party.

2011's trend colour
The stand mixer is a kitchen staple and if mom hasn't updated hers in years, then this is the one to get.

KitchenAid has updated it with a funky pink called Raspberry Ice and added a glass bowl so she can see how the batter is beating.

A percentage of the cost of KitchenAid's pink appliances goes toward the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation and almost $2 million has been raised so far.

Punch of colour
Sears has its own brand of towels that are bursting with juicy colours. It's an easy way to add summer pizzazz to a bathroom.

Not sure which brights to choose?

Just look at the colours in mom's bathroom and choose the brighter version from Style Factory, Sears, from $16.

Slatkin candles
Harry Slatkin is the world's leader regarding all things candles and his collection of Summer Berry scents will have mom dreaming of making jams and jellies well before the berries hit the market.

Fresh Summer Berry scents will keep mom's place smelling like a summer garden come rain or shine.

Ripe Berry and Blueberry candle pots, $12 and up, Bath and Body Works.

Big design for tiny spaces

► Interior design star offers tips on making your shoebox pad feel bigger

 JENADY GARSHOFSKY
LIFE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN NEW YORK

Don't let your little apartment undermine the potential for big design. Interior design star Candice Olson knows her way around this dilemma and others.

On her W Network show, Candice Tells All, she transforms all sorts of homes — but we're interested in how she magically makes those shoebox pads feel more spacious. From adding lights to hanging drapes, design is based on getting creative when you don't have much to work with, explains Olson.

She shows us how.

Shopping for a sofa
"The most important element to keep in mind is the size of the arms," Olson advises.

If you opt for big, rolled arms, you won't be able to seat as many people.

But, if you choose simple and narrow track arms, you can probably fit another person on your couch.

For a small space, you should never pick a sofa that is more than 84 inches in length and 36 inches in depth.

Creating an illusion

- Place a floor mirror opposite to the window for the illusion of extra light and depth.
- Lighting tricks, such as adding lights to the perimeter of the room instead of the centre, make the room appear larger.

• Flowing drapery gives the illusion of having bigger windows.

• The placement of mirrors is key. "You can expand a space if you back cabinets with mirrors," says Olson.

Smart furniture

- When it comes to furniture, think "double-duty," says Olson. "Use your ottoman for seating and storage to remove clutter."
- Mount your television on to the wall.
- "When you have little space horizontally, you have to maximize it vertically," explains Olson. She recommends adding floor-to-ceiling bookshelves, which draw your eyes up.

Olson's essentials

- A simple, classic, small-scale sofa.
- 6x9 or 5x7 rugs to anchor furniture.
- Handcrafted pillows to take you out of the big box-store feeling.
- A fantastic lamp.

A simpler way to live with your stuff

LINDA LABAN

METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

Minimalism is not for everyone.

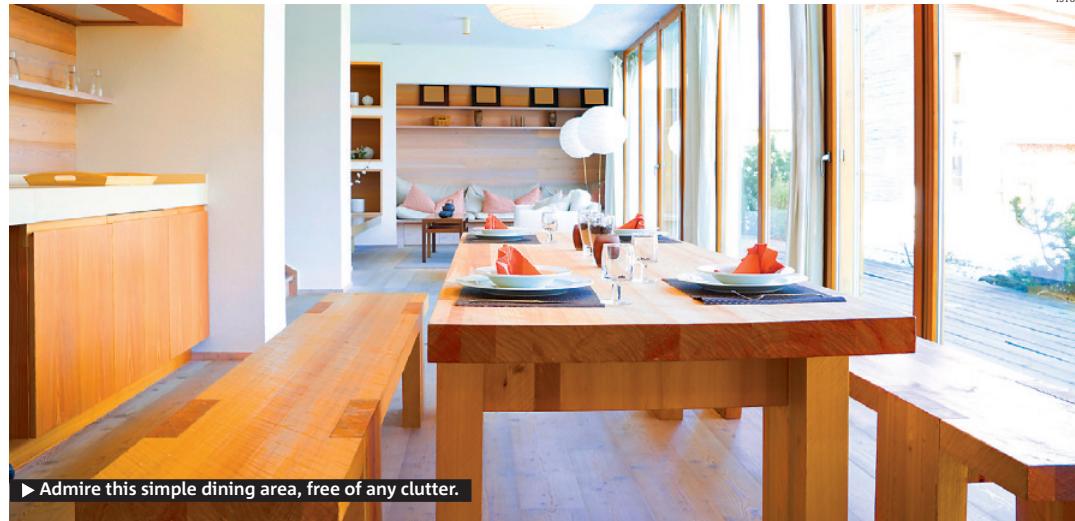

We love our stuff. Our stuff is who we are. It's our lives in the form of objects.

Mementos and art are what makes a space our home.

We don't have to live in an empty space in denial of who we are, though. The current thinking in design is simplicity, meaning having both your stuff and your space — in moderation.

"Minimalism is extreme paring back so that there is one large concept, few materials and a very sparse visual excitement," says Lauren Rottet, founder of international architecture and design company Rottet Studio.

"Simplicity can be full

► Admire this simple dining area, free of any clutter.

of life, colour and collection, but it cannot be overcluttered or overworked."

Elegantly livable aesthetics can be seen in Rottet's recent overhaul of Manhattan's Surrey Hotel, where boutique black and white is swapped for a muted palette of magnolia, brown and gray.

Unlike minimalism, simplicity isn't about denial. It's about comfort, just without the excess and, well, junk!

"Think about your kids having to clean out your house when you leave it," adds Rottet.

"Would the objects be collectibles, or worth something?

"Or would they cost more to haul away in a dumpster?"

Show off your possessions in a neat way

"Keep things simple and fresh, sort and categorize," advises Rottet.

"Take all of your glasses and glass objects, for example, and arrange them by colour. Collectables could be neatly arranged in rows or by colour or type."

"This is visually interesting and full, but minimal in the sense that it has been culled."

Simple is sustainable

Simplicity is about cherishing what you have without coveting more and more.

"Be minimal in your approach and slow to purchase," advises Rottet.

"Make a home feel fabulous with just a little bit of art, rugs, furniture and some flowers."

"But each object has to be important or at least important to you. (Start) with being careful about what you buy."

Make your own planter box

► Don't have a big backyard to garden? These easy-to-make boxes are an option

DIY IDEAS

Garden centres are stocking up and it's nearly time to move indoor seedlings outside.

Many gardeners opt to transplant seedlings into a planter box.

Planter boxes are easy to make and are especially useful for those with little or no backyard.

DIY Network Canada's Yard Crashers (airing Tuesdays at 8 p.m. ET/ 5 p.m. PT) offers a basic step-by-step guide to constructing your own planter box.  459996

Make a Plan

The first steps are to figure out a shape and size for the planter box. Planter boxes can take many shapes, but the most common is rectangular.

When determining the size of the planter box, consider taking an inventory of any scrap wood that is lying around. It will be more cost effective to make a planter box using the wood you already have. Any type of wood is suitable, but pressure-treated wood makes the box more durable.

Saw and Screw

A rectangular planter box will require two equal-in-size pieces of wood to act as the box's length and two equal-in-size pieces of wood to act as the box's width.

► Planter boxes can take many shapes, the most common being rectangular.

If purchasing wood, consider asking the merchant to cut the wood to your required size.

If you're using scrap wood, put on safety goggles and cut the wood using a table saw.

Sand down the edges where the wood has been cut. Arrange the pieces in the rectangular shape and fasten together using a screwdriver and wood screws.

Bottoms Up

When adding a bottom to the planter box, first think about where you're going to place it outside. If it's going onto grass or soil, hammer a piece of lattice to the bottom. The holes in the lattice will encourage drainage and any spillage will be absorbed by the grass or soil. If the planter box is going on a balcony or a deck, then attach a solid piece of wood to the bottom of the box with wood screws and drill four three-quarter inch holes into the bottom.

Add a layer of gravel before adding soil and transplanting the seedlings to assist with drainage.

Fire pits are moving beyond the basic bowl

Our first fire pit was a simple metal bowl, like a giant wok, perched on a metal stand.

We've enjoyed many pleasant evenings sitting around a crackling blaze, finding humour in the incongruity of a campfire in the middle of suburbia.

Marshmallows have been roasted, songs sung. The pit becomes evening entertainment, everyone intently watching the dancing flames.

But in the few years since fire pits hit the market, designers have really begun to, well, design them.

Now you can have one built into your dining table. Add a grill and host a teppanyaki (Japanese barbecue) supper. Or you can co-ordinate the pit with the rest of your backyard decor.

Sleek, powder-coated models are more furniture than utility. And with a variety of flame sources to choose from, you can now place your fire pit just about anywhere, including small balconies and swimming pools.

Take, for example, the coffee-table fire pit designed by John Xochihua of Portland, Ore., with a laser-cut, powder-coat steel top that's sleek and chic.

"Since fire is completely organic, I wanted to bring asymmetry and organic shapes into my design," he says. "When you combine a fire element and a table, there are many more design considerations. The table becomes interactive, a focal point, a place to gather, much as fire has been for millennia."

Rick Wittrip of Lebanon, Tenn., has designed the Third Rock fire pit, which has fire emanating from cutouts where the continents would be in a world globe. The piece was featured at the Vancouver Winter Olympics.

Wittrip says he incorporates his skills as a welder, builder and carpenter, but it's the artist's vision leading the way. "When I'm designing, I keep in mind that the fire pit is all about warmth and companionship," he says.

Both Wittrip's and Xochihua's designs are at homeinfatuation.com.

At DancingFire.com, the Fire Dancer fire pit ticks a lot of boxes: Its portability and propane fuel source allow it to be placed anywhere in the yard. You can build it in with rock or brick, or keep it transportable. A nine-kilogram propane bottle keeps the fire going, and a quick turn of the dial shuts everything down.

If you're installing a gas pit, consider using one with glass rocks; single or multi-coloured glass looks amazing lit by the flames, and since no carbon is produced by the gas flame, they stay looking sparkly.

Chicken and beer in one dish – why not?

Yields 4
Start to finish:
 50 mins.
Active:
 30 mins.

► Stout-braised chicken thighs marry well with mashed potatoes.

This recipe for stout-braised chicken thighs, combines two techniques: flash browning and a quick, low-heat braise. By switching around the sauce ingredients you can turn this method of cooking thighs into an endless variety of dishes.

Here, the recipe calls for

Ingredients:

- 50 ml (1/4 cup) plus 45 ml (3 tbsp) all-purpose flour, divided
- 2 ml (1/2 tsp) salt, plus more to taste
- 2 ml (1/2 tsp) black pepper, plus more to taste

175 ml (3/4 cup) of a stout beer such as Guinness (you can drink the rest while the thighs are braising), and just a single strip of chopped bacon to make a smoky, malty sauce that's nicely balanced by the sweetness of peas, carrots and onions, plus the earthiness of mushrooms.

Serve the dish with mashed potatoes to help soak up all the dark and flavourful sauce.

Preparation:

- 1 In a shallow dish, combine 50 ml (1/4 cup) of flour with 2 ml (1/2 tsp) each of salt and pepper.

- 625 g (1 1/4 lb) boneless, skinless chicken thighs, trimmed of excess fat
- 10 ml (2 tsp) extra-virgin olive oil
- 1 slice bacon, finely chopped
- 1 yellow onion, diced
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) baby car-
- rots
- 125 g (4 oz) button cremini mushrooms, halved
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) stout, such as Guinness
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) reduced-sodium chicken broth
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) frozen baby peas

Dredge chicken thighs in flour mixture to coat completely, then set on a plate.

- 2 In 30-cm (12-inch) non-stick skillet over medium-high, heat olive oil. Add chicken and cook until browned, 3 to 4 minutes per side. Transfer to a clean plate and set aside.

- 3 Add bacon to skillet and cook, stirring often, for 2 minutes. Add onion, carrots and mushrooms and sauté until vegetables begin to brown, about 4 minutes. Sprinkle remaining 45 ml (3 tbsp) flour over vegetables and cook, stirring constantly, for another 2 minutes.

- 4 Add stout and broth to pan and bring to a boil, using a wooden spoon to scrape up any browned bits from the bottom of the pan. Return thighs to pan, nestling them among vegetables. Reduce heat until liquid is gently simmering, then cover and cook for 15 minutes.

- 5 Add peas and cook, covered, for 5 minutes more. Uncover pan and simmer for 5 minutes more. Season with salt and pepper and serve chicken with vegetables and sauce spooned over top. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roasted Veggie, Blue Cheese Puff

Ingredients:

- 1 small eggplant, cut into slices
- 2 red, green or orange peppers, halved, seeded and cut into pieces
- 2 red onions, peeled and cut into wedges
- Olive oil
- 1 pkg (400 g) frozen puff pastry, thawed
- 1 small jar artichoke hearts, drained
- 1 tub (5 oz/142 g) crumbled blue cheese
- 1 egg, beaten

Preparation:

- 1 Place eggplant, peppers and onions on parchment paper lined baking sheet and drizzle with oil. Roast in 400 F (200 C) oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until just tender. Let cool.

- 2 Increase oven temperature to 425 F (220 C). Divide pastry into 4 equal pieces and roll out to about 6 x 4 inches (15 by 10 cm). Trim edges with a sharp knife and place on baking sheet. Score a 1-inch (2.5 cm) border around edges.

- 3 Staying within borders, top pastry with roasted vegetables and artichoke hearts; scatter crumbled cheese over top. Brush borders with beaten egg and bake for 18 to 20 minutes until pastry is puffed and golden brown. Serve hot or cold cut into wedges.

Keep it simple with a touching gift

► You don't have to break the bank to let mom know you appreciate her ► Here are some gift ideas she'll love

CANADIANLIVING.COM

Whether you choose a gift from the heart or from the store, mom is sure to appreciate your gesture of love and gratitude. Here are nine gifts from the heart.

Afternoon tea

Sometimes nothing means more to mom than the gift of your time. This year, simply spend the afternoon with your mom, bonding and reconnecting over a cup of tea or coffee. Finding the time in your busy schedule to catch Mom up on your life will mean a lot to her.

Get mom online

Depending on your mother's age, she may still be leery of online activities. Spend the afternoon with her setting up accounts on sites that'll help you both stay connected.

A Facebook or Flickr profile can help you to share family photos more easily with her.

Or, she may just want help getting set up to bank online.

Write your mom a letter
Or a poem. No need to get fancy, but putting your sentiments down on paper will give her a lasting gift.

Handmade cards

Gather the kids for a day of crafting some handmade cards for mom. Armed with construction paper, scissors, crayons, pipe cleaners and sparkles, you never know what they'll come up with.

Flowers from the garden

Handpick a selection of favourites from your garden and surprise mom with a beautiful and bountiful bouquet.

Make mom dinner

Or order in. Whichever option you choose is fine as long as mom doesn't have to lift a finger to prepare it — or clean up.

Do mom's errands

Find out what odd jobs

mom needs done around the house, and scratch them off her to-do list ... whether it's doing some groceries or gardening, or changing a light bulb or an air filter.

Update mom's music

Chances are she hasn't updated her mp3 player with her new favourite songs and deleted those ones she's tired of hearing.

Clean out files mom no longer wants and bring her music library up to date. Add in a few songs that are especially from you to her.

Enjoy a spring picnic

Pack up a basket with sandwiches, drinks and a sweet treat for dessert and head out with mom for a Sunday afternoon in the park.

Whatever you decide, she'll be happy you had her in mind.

Donate in her honour

Help another mother

Reader Alicia Pereira decided to honour her mom by sponsoring a child in Africa in her name. "I want her to know that her gift will help one mother in Africa gain access to medical treatment and counselling, which will help prevent the transmission of HIV to her son or daughter," she wrote in a letter to the editor. "I know it will be a gift she will be proud to receive, especially since she passed on her desire to help change the world for the better on to me."

Reader's share

BRUINS FLYERS

Zdeno Chara and David Krejci scored in the opening 63 seconds, and the Bruins added two more goals in a 95-second span in the second period last night to beat the Philadelphia Flyers 5-1 and take a 3-0 lead in the Eastern Conference semifinals.

One year after watching their 3-0 series lead disappear, the Bruins again moved one game from sweeping Philadelphia in the conference semis. This year they have a chance to do it at home, with Game 4 tomorrow night at the TD Garden.

Tim Thomas made 37 saves for Boston, which hasn't reached the conference finals since 1992.

Brian Boucher stopped 16 shots for the Flyers before he was replaced with 4:46 left in the second period after Daniel Paille and Nathan Horton scored to make it 4-0. Sergei Bobrovsky made seven saves the rest of the way.

Caps struck down by Bolts

► Lightning make third round for first time since 2004 Stanley Cup season

► Lightning left-winger Sean Bergenheim celebrates after scoring against the Capitals in Tampa, Fla., last night.

Sean Bergenheim scored two goals and Dwayne Roloson stopped 33 shots as the surging Tampa Bay Lightning completed a series sweep of the top-seeded Washington Capitals with a 5-3 victory in Game 4 last night.

Playing on consecutive nights for the first time this post-season, the Lightning extended their winning streak to seven games to advance to the Eastern Conference finals.

For Alex Ovechkin and the Capitals it was yet another bitter post-season disappointment.

Washington felt the first three games could have gone either way, with Ovechkin insisting after Game 3 that the series was far from over and that he expected his team to come back and win.

Rookie Michal Neuvirth stopped 32 shots for Washington, but Bergenheim scored twice in eight minutes during the second period to build a 3-1 lead that induced chants of "sweep, sweep, sweep" from a sell-out crowd of 20,835.

Martin St. Louis, Vincent Lecavalier and Steven

Stamkos have elevated their games, but so has Bergenheim, who has a team-leading seven playoff goals. St. Louis' sixth goal of the playoffs, with 3:08 remaining, finished Tampa Bay's scoring.

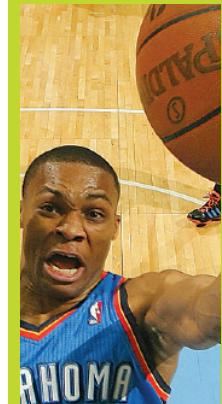

Ryan Malone and Marc-Andre Bergeron also scored for the Lightning, who have not lost since dropping into a 3-1 hole against Pittsburgh in the first round.

Marco Sturm, John Erskine and John Carlson scored for the Capitals.

Aries March 21-April 20 It may seem as if things are going wrong, but there is meaning among the madness.

Taurus April 21-May 21

Don't try to cling to something that has clearly come to the end of its allotted span.

Gemini May 22-June 21

There is a danger that you will aim too high too soon and taste failure instead of success.

Cancer June 22-July 22 It takes all sorts to make such an interesting world.

Leo July 23-Aug. 23 Make an extra special effort to keep your temper in check over the next 24 hours.

Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 If you go out of your way to help someone now they will go out of their way to help you later on.

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 There is no point trying to change things that cannot be changed.

Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Stop beating yourself up about things you should have done but didn't. It's no big deal.

Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Like it or not today's events will force you to make changes to your schedule.

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Someone will give you a hard time about what you are doing today but you must not let it change your plans in any way.

Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18

Make the best of the situation you happen to find yourself in.

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. If you believe it, it will make it come true. SALLY BROMPTON
